

HA-BE continues to grow

The relocation to the new "Plant 2" is running at full speed

German politicians take leave for the summer break, Italians look forward to "Ferragosto" and the entire French nation packs camping chairs to head out to summer resorts, things at HA-BE are shifting into turbo mode.

In immediate proximity to our main production facility, also located in Altheim, a new plant is being built on an area of 10,000 m² with a total production and storage area of 2,300 m².

In the future, Plant 2 will be the annexe to our production line 3 and final assembly. Plant 2 will be headed by Mr. Serdar BAYKAN. Mr. Oliver Hampe, our head of production and project leader, planned the relocation meticulously, allowing us to move production with the least possible production downtimes starting on August 1, 2014 up to completion on September 22, 2014.

Most of the production transfers will of course be carried out on weekends. We will use the vacant space that becomes available due to the move for optimising our process flows in the next few months and accommodating new machines and equipment. For 2015, we have also planned to invest in a surface coating system.

This will not only considerably increase the capacities in our main production facility, but also optimise logistical processes and operations and expand manufacturing technologies.
